REBELS WITH A CAUSE

HOW A BATTLE OVER LAND CHANGED THE AMERICAN LANDSCAPE FOREVER.

“With the help of engaging interviews, excellent graphic maps and Lou Weinert’s cinematography – his Bay Area landscape shots are beautiful – filmmakers Nancy Kelly and Kenji Yamamoto are able to translate what was essentially an incremental bureaucratic fight into cinematic terms.”

— David Lewis, San Francisco Chronicle

Narrated by Academy Award-winning actress, Frances McDormand, REBELS WITH A CAUSE is the story of a 20-year battle that unified seemingly antagonistic foes and crossed party lines in order to preserve something important to all Americans, our public lands. They took their fight all the way to the White House – twice – and eventually succeeded in bringing about America's system of national seashores and recreation areas.
